

AHANA

Sustainable Ethical Procurement

AHANA is a firm follower of UN SDGs

ABOUT US

AHANA is your partner for sourcing eco-friendly, artisanal, and culturally authentic lifestyle goods designed with sustainability principles in mind.

We connect organizations and individuals in the US with verified small and micro businesses across the majority-world nations that are working at the intersection of material innovation, design, art and culture.

We believe that conscious consumption can positively impact our planet and drive equity in global economic growth.

Our products and services are designed to serve wholesale sourcing for corporate gifting, conferences & team events, as well as boutique hospitality.

Bell Living Labs

Bell Living Lab is a team of biomaterials scientists and community coffee farmers, transforming coffee husk waste into USDA M-Tex-certified bio-based vegan leather and panels. The innovative plant-powered material is handcrafted into everyday fashion accessories, lifestyle goods, and furniture.

Tavaru

Tavaru — meaning "maternal home" in Kannada- celebrates 'Khowdi' (ಖೌದಿ), a fading hand-quilting tradition practiced by women in the northern Karnataka region in India, turning old fabrics into family quilts. Founded by textile designer Geeta Patil, Tavaru honours these artisans by reframing their everyday craft as art, while creating a collective space for women to stitch, share, and sustain their tradition together.
